The School Bus Driver

In that big yellow bus sits a man made of "steel"
With his foot on the throttle and his hand on the wheel
His eye, at all time, he must keep on the road
To see that no danger approaches his load.

His mind, from his driving, should have no detractions
By unnecessary commotion, or student's rude actions.
He's your friend, dear students, so treat him as such
And I'm sure he'll appreciate it very much.

Your "kids" are in school, while riding the bus
So teach them, dear parents, to not raise a fuss,
And if they will all be quietly seated
I'm sure that each morn, with a smile they'll be greeted.

We know they are young, full of zip, v.m and vigor
Which makes driving problems so very much bigger.
In Spring, Fall and Winter, through rain, snow, or hail
We'll drive them to school and home without fail.

To those on the road, this bus is no stranger
So please, Mr. Motorist, don't cause any danger
To the lives of those children, so young and so fine
For some may be yours and some may be mine.

Our signals are given by flashing a light
An arrow means turn - to the left, - or the right
Two flashers and sign mean STOP--without doubt
While someone gets in, or someone gets out.

Don't pass when you see that bright yellow line
Or you may end up with a ticket and fine.
It's for your safety, too, these laws have been made
But, it's left up to you to see they're obeyed.

So pause in your haste, for a moment, or two
For some child's life may depend upon you
To stop, for an instant, till the road he has crossed
Then his name won't be found among those who've been lost.

When some careless driver disregarded that sign
With naught but his own selfish thoughts on his mind
And drove right on by, giving no thought nor care
To some Mother's children who were crossing there.

So think, Mr. Driver, as you drive down the road
And see that bus driver with his priceless load
Of the times you have wondered just how you would feel
If you sat in that bus as the man at the wheel.

We love all those children and drive with great care
We'll do all in our power, their young lives to spare.

Then, for their safe keeping, give thanks to our God
That not one lay sleeping, somewhere 'neath the sod.

(This is an original poem composed by Stanley J. Mouser, Wellman, Iowa. 52356, R.F.D. Number 1, bus driver for the Mid-Prairie Schools).

The Pastor Speaks

"THREE CLASSIFICATIONS OF MAN."

I Corin. 2:14-3:1

Normally, the basic position of man can be stated in such contrasting terms as faith or unbelief, saved or lost, redeemed or condemned, but in this passage of scripture we see three classifications. Number one, the natural man, verse 14. One dead in tresspasses and sin chained to the desires of his sinful nature. "Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin." Jn. 8:34. The rebellion of the present day against the establishment - "because we want to live in liberty", is ridiculous. Man in his lost condition can not so live. Seeking liberty to smoke marijuana, he is most apt to find himself addicted to a stronger drug. The cravings increasingly persist and he no longer has liberty. What is claimed as a securement of liberty most often proves to be a persons bondage.

The carnal minded man. ch. 3:1 "And I, brethren, could not speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ." Many theologians argue this point. "Is the carnal mind here a saved person?" Paul was not associated with any unscriptural ecumnical movement. The oneness of the body of Christ was the only ecumenicism Paul recognized. He saw those outside of Christ only as sinners in need of the Saviour and his debt before God was to give them the Gospel. As far as any spiritual relationship was concerned Paul recognized none. His was the realm of life bears the sphere of death. But here addressing those who are carnal call them "Babes in Christ." They were alive unto God, they were in the right realm the family of God, they were sharing the life of God but retaining the scepter of life in their own hands. This is characteristicly true of all who are carnal.

The spiritual man, ch. 2:15. of Ecclesiastes, who boasted: I made great works: I built houses and planted vineyards for myself; . . . I had also great possessions of herds and flocks, more than any who had been before me in Jerusalem . . ." (Ecclesiastes 2:4, 7). Here was an ambitious man, a go-getter, a man destined for success.

And he made it: "So I became great and surpassed all who were before me in Jerusalem . . ." (2:9). Isn't that what we would call today "a success story?" Isn't that the pattern we admire so much and hold up to our children? Is that not the "fat life," to be able to say with him: "And whatever my eyes desired I did not keep from them; I kept my heart from no pleasure . . ." (2:10)? That is "living!", isn't it?

All Was Vanity

No, it wasn't.

The writer of Ecclesiastes, when he added up all this "success," made a terrible discovery:

Then I considered all that my hands had done and the toil I spent in doing it, and behold, all was vanity and a striving after the wind, and there was nothing to be gained under the sun.

So after all that striving, plotting, straining, desiring, "all was vanity," all was without value or purpose.

So Paul writes, "Whatever you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do all to the glory of God" (I Cor. 10:31). Everything else is so much "striving after wind."

STRIVING AFTER WIND

Lesson for September 24, 1972

Background Scripture: Genesis 3:17-19; Exodus 20:8-11; Ecclesiastes 2:1 through 3:9; Colossians 3:17, 23,

Devotional Reading: Ecclesiastes 12:1-13,

A young executive in a large corporation set his goal early in his career; he would become president of the firm by the time he reached 40, Now, in his late 30's he is almost at his goal. He has come a long way.

To come this far, however, he had to pay a terrible price, Far beyond hard and dedicated work and long hours, he has given up almost all his family life, his role as a father and husband, He has given up all other interests and associations, He has avoided all community involvements and responsibilities, His job has been his religion, his whole life.

Today, without wife and children, without friends, and without a faith, he is on the verge of achieving his ambition, But now he realizes at last that it will be a hollow victory, There will be no one to share it with him,

The Terrible Price

The young executive's story is similar to that of the writer

This person is not only in right relationship to God through Christ but is guided by His Will being controlled by the Holy Spirit. Having become a mature Christian. Mt. 6:33 "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God", is the rule of his life. Only the things of God are important to him. He realizes this truth. A mans life consistetn not in the abudance of the things which he possesses, Lk. 12:15b.

YOUTH ON STAGE AT STATE FAIR MALL THREATRE

Richmond - Thirty-two talented teenagers from throughout Virginia will present four rousing performances at the 1972 State Fair of Virginia here September 22- October 1. Billed as "Youth on Stage," the traveling troupe, for the second season, toured the state and covered 12 cities. Special presentations have been arranged for the State Fair, C.L. Teachworth, Manager, said today.

The singing, dancing and performing group will be the feature attraction in the new Mall Theatre on the fairgrounds for three shows on Saturday, September 23 at 3:00, 6:00 and 8:00 p.m. and for a matinee performance on Sunday, September 24 at 3:00 p.m. The shows will be free to all fairgoers.

"Youth on Stage" combines a dash of Broadway flare with youthful enthusiasm and exhuberance to present an exciting hour and a half song and dance revue of latest song hits, favorite show tunes and quiet melodies. The show sparkles with colorful costumes and professional choreography.

Sponsored by the Virginia Commission of Arts and Humanities, the program is designed to give talented young singers and dancers a realistic experience in professional theatre.

The program features modern music, colorful costumes and stage sets, and most importants, a hand-picked cast of the best Virginia has to offer in young entertainers.

For the "Youth on Stage" performers, the program began this spring with tryouts in their hometowns. Those selected then were transformed from amateur to semi-professional status during an intensive two-week talent workshop in Fairfax this spring. Under the tutorage of a professional choreographer, music arranger, vocal coach and stage manager, the cast members spent up to 12 hours a day rehearsing for opening night.

Frank Dunham, Executive Director of the Arts and Humanities Commission and originator of the show, said that eight cast members of last year's "Youth on Stage" production have already gone on to professional careers.

Notice To Transco Stockholders

SEPT. 13 – The 62,000 holders of the common stock of Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Corp. are being notified today of a plan by which they can have their Transco dividends invested automatically in additional shares of Transco stock.

The arrangement which makes this possible is offered by Morgan Guaranty Trust Company of New York as transfer agent for Transco common stock. Stockholders who utilize it will pay a fee for the service in addition to a proportionate share of the brokerage commissions incurred on the total amount of stock bought for stockholders using the plan. Because Morgan Guaranty will consolidate the purchases of all stockholders, the amount of commission paid by each will normally be less than if the stockholders made their purchases individually.
